"I use them for lots of other applications too like storing my Drifter floats and bite indicators."

Mick Brown

Think back a few years and your lure storage system was probably a battered, old tool box. You'd have hooks pointing everywhere with your wire traces resembling a bird's nest.

Now, thanks to innovations like the Fox Stack 'n' Store system and Lure Carryalls, you can keep your predator accessory gear neat and tidy ready for your next session. It also means you can easily travel light for those impulse sessions, safe in the knowledge that all your gear is readily available.

Stack 'n' Store Carryall

The Lure Carryalls house Fox rigid plastic lure boxes which are accessible via a zip-up flap at the front. Once unzipped the boxes are easily slipped in or out as required. Additional storage space is available through two side pockets and base storage, and external tool pockets are also fitted as standard. Additional features include short reach carry handles and adjustable shoulder strap. Ideal for use when bank or boat fishing with lures.
